Video/Documentary of the historic levee work in Yuba County, California

We appreciate the opportunity to be considered for this historic project. KVIE Media Services is an important division of KVIE Television- PBS for northern California. KVIE is a mainstay for broadcast standards in the Sacramento area and we are celebrating our 50th anniversary on the air. As with all of the productions created by KVIE, community is an important element in the presentations we deliver.

The communities affected by this significant project are important constituents of the KVIE broadcast area. We have always prided ourselves on addressing issues that impact the lives of our viewers and we believe that we can best tell a story that outlines the vision, the complexity and the scope of the work being accomplished.

KVIE has long held the public trust for video productions that are honest and compelling. Our long form video work has been honored at the regional and national level and our production personnel have been recognized for their skills with a wide range of national, state and local awards. We have the technical knowledge, tools and creative capacity to deliver an outstanding documentary presentation.

Yours is an exciting and important project. We feel that the cooperative effort between KVIE Media Services and the Three Rivers Levee Improvement Authority can bring this historic project to life.

Understanding the Project

Water issues in northern California affect hundreds of thousands of people. The levees of the region protect urban and suburban communities, extensive acres of farmland as well as light and heavy industrial areas whose output is critical to the economic well being of the state. The establishment of the Three Rivers Levee Improvement Authority (TRLIA) is an ongoing effort to provide flood protection in southwestern Yuba County to rural districts, important public facilities, and a significant urban population.

Following the inability of outside agencies to provide effective and long lasting solutions to the threat and reality of levee failures, Yuba County and Reclamation District 784 in 2004 decided on a pro-active approach to improve levees in the region, protecting the communities of Linda, Olivehurst, Arboga and Plumas Lake. Six years later, that important project is reaching fruition.

Understanding a project of this magnitude and importance gives perspective to residents on critical decisions that positively impact their lives. To that end, a visual presentation allows them to better understand:

The history of the project

The necessity for planning

The decision makers in the scenario

The scope of the undertaking

And the positive results that benefit current residents as well as generations to come.

The documentary will serve as a historical record of community involvement. It also provides a presentational and online-accessible vehicle for those in and outside Yuba County to see how the community functions effectively and what it offers to current citizens as well as those considering locating here.

Section 3.

Production Technical Approach

There are technical and human elements to this documentary. The need and desire to make community improvements hinges on benefits to the population(s) affected by those improvements. To that end, this is a story of emotion and opportunity as well as a story of communities and organizations pulling together.

1. Pre-production on the documentary must include discussions with the appropriate community leaders who decided on the need to act and understood the possible scope of the final project.

2. From that initial research, a pre-production outline identifies possible story threads along with accompanying interview and visual resources to support those threads. Please note: Any and all interview and/or visual resources must be acquired with the necessary releases since the documentary presentation may be repurposed for online or other distribution formats in the future.

3. KVIE Media Services personnel will finalize the story direction with the appropriate liaison people from the Three Rivers Levee Improvement Authority (TRLIA). From that outline the documentary will be assigned to a scriptwriter who will gather the relevant assets to construct the (approximately) 20 minute presentation.

4. When the script has been finalized in discussions between the production arm and TRLIA, decisions can be finalized on any and all visual elements that will be needed to flesh out the final documentary script.

5. Those discussions will establish a shooting schedule. KVIE Media Services personnel will set up interview schedules, make arrangements for b-roll to be shot and determine how best to acquire additional visual materials, graphics, animation, maps and documents which may be essential to the documentary. In telling this story, it will be determined early on whether the documentary will be better served by an on-camera presenter who will also handle the voice over narration.

6. Following script approval and shooting, a voice over track and on camera elements (if necessary) will be completed. Then all visual elements will be formatted for non-linear acquisition and editing at KVIE's edit suites in Sacramento. The project will be assigned to a specific editor who will be part of the project from its inception.

7. An initial "A roll" or draft cut will be produced for review by the appropriate TRILIA personnel.

8. Following that review, final editing will be made on the documentary. Music, sound FX, and additional VO tracks will be added as needed.

9. A final cut version will be submitted for review by TRILIA. Upon approval, the documentary will be formatted for transfer to DVD and duplication will be made in a quantity necessary to the project. It is expected that the final version will be delivered in additional formats on either hard drive and/or tape.

Section 4.

Meeting Project Schedule

Since KVIE is a regular full service broadcast facility with ongoing projects, we are set up to handle multiple productions. We have employees on staff that can provide pre-production planning, field shoot evaluation(s), graphics considerations, videography and editing supervision. As mentioned earlier, we have the largest studio in northern California with the latest in high definition studio cameras.

For a project like this which requires a good deal of field production, we use only the latest in high definition cameras. In addition, we have multiple edit suites to handle incoming video and editing needs. To facilitate production timelines, we utilize video loggers for interview transcriptions and categorization of video B-roll.

All of this is designed to create the highest quality video and web projects without the "start & stop" problems in which some production houses find themselves. Since we have multiple projects going, we also draw from a very talented pool of freelancers who work with us on a regular basis. We have long term relationships with these very creative people. They know our standards and we are pleased to have them be part of the great work we do.

Qualifications:

KVIE Media Services is the Sacramento region's leading Full-service creative video company

We have on-staff experts in outreach, strategic planning, writing, producing, video graphics, directing, shooting, editing, print, multimedia, internet, and project management. We have a solid reputation for quality and creativity. And particular to the needs of the Three Rivers Levee Improvement Authority, we are comfortable in working with large organizations to create video/media projects that touch the lives of those who live in the Capital region. Those organizations include the Sacramento Area Council of Governments, The California Chamber of Commerce, the University of California, Davis, and Sacramento State University among others.

Illustrating the quality of the work we do, KVIE produces the award winning nationally syndicated "America's Heartland" program which airs on more than 250 PBS stations across the country. Our "Viewfinder" series has won multiple national and regional awards for in depth reporting on critical issues for residents in the region.

Cutting edge technology is critical to capturing the information and emotion of each video production

We use the latest generation High Definition Hitachi SK HD 1000 cameras for studio production along with Panasonic AG-HVX 2000 P2 HD format field cameras. This video equipment allows us the ability to shoot in a video-standard frame ratio delivering detailed Hi Def images or in a 24FPS video frame rate for a textured film like quality.

All of our editing involves the latest non-linear video editing software. Video elements, whether from tape, hard drive or P2 cards will be ingested and accessed through the latest Final Cut Pro storage and editing software systems.

Graphics can enhance projects and we offer a wide range of graphic possibilities. These include 2D-3D & compositing, production graphics, green screen rig removal, visual FX, motion tracking, 3D modeling, animation and render, procedural and complex elemental animation as well as 2D-3D landscape & environmental design/animation. The final project can be delivered in a number of video formats for DVD's and/or website use.

Telling this story demands an understanding of history, vision and human involvement

Our experienced writers and producers use those tools and technologies in successfully telling your story. With extensive backgrounds in news and public affairs, our highly creative individuals will develop your story line, oversee production, and translate historical material into a narrative that tells the story of a long term successful project which significantly impacts the lives of tens of thousands of people.

Appendix

Creating an exemplary video presentation while meeting deadlines and keeping to a budget demands that any production house keep an eye on the bottom line without sacrificing quality.

The final cost of any project is determined in making realistic decisions early on in the production process. As with every job we take on, it is our intention to provide the highest quality video in a timely and cost effective manner. The $40,000 TRLIA budget for this project seems very adequate for the needs of this production. Should changes be needed as we proceed, our aim would always be to give the client the best possible outcome for the most minimal dollar outlay.

Our advantage comes in having personnel already on staff. Given that, we are able to look at some production elements as "soft costs" which can help offset costs in other areas. That means your initial budget can go farther with us in generating the visual material you need for a complex long form production like this.
