EXHIBIT 1

Feather River Levee Setback Project Feather River Floodplain Erosion Monitoring Scope of Work for TRLIA PWA, Ltd., February 11, 2009

Introduction

PWA, Ltd., has been requested by GEI Consultants (on behalf of TRLIA) to prepare a scope of work and budget estimate to conduct baseline geomorphic monitoring of two selected river bank/floodplain areas associated with improvements to levees along the Feather River (at Star Bend and within State Cut; in Segments 1 & 3 respectively). At a future time (as required, and subject to authorization by TRLIA), this scope of work may include the optional task of monitoring/re-surveying at these locations subsequent to future potential flood events.

After completion of the Feather River Levee setback, TRLIA may also seek to expand this scope of work to establish a baseline for monitoring of sedimentation and erosion within the existing and newly created floodplain area in Segment 2. No scope or budget is included here because the details of such monitoring needs are not yet available.

Star Bend and State Cut

PWA will conduct the following tasks to establish baseline conditions at the Star Bend and State Cut sites.

All surveying and reporting will be completed using the project's vertical datum, which is NGVD 29 as updated by the USACE in 2003. Survey monuments will be constructed based on guidance provided by the USGS for benchmark construction (the same as was used the Bear River baseline monuments). Monuments will include a concrete foundation 1 foot in diameter by 4 feet in depth with steel reinforcement, constructed below grade with a brass, stamped survey marker set in the top of the concrete.

Task 1 – Establish Survey Monuments

PWA will install two (2) permanent, concrete monuments (as described above) for a single monitoring transect at Star Bend. This transect will include the left bank from the levee top to the river's water surface at the time of survey. The exact layout of the transect at this site will be determined during project planning, but will include the erosion area of interest described in PWA's 13 November 2007 memo to GEI. As appropriate, we will review previous survey information (as available) to identify if it is possible to re-occupy one of the past survey transects (i.e., the Ayres observations/surveys for the USACE). Along this transect, one monument will be placed on the levee crest (just off the roadway, slightly below grade) and the other approximately 15 feet from the top of bank. Vertical and horizontal control will be assigned to each monument using a survey-grade GPS.

PWA will install permanent, concrete monuments (as described above) at the endpoints of each of three (3) monitoring transects that cross the State Cut channel, for a total of six (6) monuments at this site. Transects will be located at stations 706+00, 709+00 and 712+00 as shown in Figure 1. We assume that GEI will provide to PWA the electronic survey files from the original 2007 MHM survey of those transects to allow for replication. Vertical and horizontal control will be assigned to each monument using a survey-grade GPS.

This task includes coordination with GEI and TRLIA to obtain their approval of the location of these monuments. PWA will provide a map of the proposed monument locations (including the latitude and longitude of each monument) to GEI and TRLIA and will not install those monuments until authorization is provided by GEI or TRLIA. TRLIA shall assume all responsibility for the placement of the monuments at the authorized locations, as related to easements, property rights, and other covenants or restrictions.

We assume that work in this task will occur in summer 2009, subsequent to completion of bank protection work at the State Cut Channel site.

Deliverable: Installed transect monuments and GPS data/maps of locations.

Task 2 – Ground Survey

PWA will conduct a ground elevation survey along each of the four (4) monitoring transects described in Task 1. The survey will be spaced approximately every 50 feet or at significant changes in grade.

Deliverable: See Task 3.

Task 3 – Data Processing / Reporting

PWA will provide a summary of the existing site conditions (e.g., a documentation for each location of baseline conditions) in a short technical memorandum, including tables, photos, and figures. This memorandum will also include a map and table displaying the coordinates of the monuments, and the survey data plotted graphically. PWA will deliver the memorandum to GEI and TRLIA electronically via e-mail.

Optional Tasks

Post-Flood Monitoring

This optional task includes re-surveying and documenting change (via written descriptions of observations and photographs) of the survey transects and sedimentation plates on the Feather River and/or Bear River, subsequent to future potential flood events.

PWA recommends that monitoring occur on a biannual basis or following a flood season that has endured a 5+ year storm event, or when overbank flows across the floodplain are observed (whichever comes first). This monitoring should include coring the sedimentation plates (on the Bear River) and a resurvey along all transect lines (Feather and Bear Rivers).

Because the timing of flooding is uncertain, vegetation conditions in the survey areas are also uncertain (e.g., as the vegetation matures, and as leaf cover emerges and increases later in or after the flood season, surveys are more difficult). Therefore, work on this task may be added on a time and materials basis with an estimate of costs provided at the time the task is deemed necessary.

Installation and Survey of Additional Erosion Transects & Sedimentation Plates

This optional task includes installation and survey of additional erosion monitoring transects and sedimentation plates on the Feather River (Segment 2) subsequent to completion of setback levee construction and existing levee degradation. The exact scope of this work is yet to be determined. Therefore, work on this task may be added on a time and materials basis with an estimate of costs provided at the time the task is deemed necessary.

Schedule

We understand that the State Cut portion of this work needs to be completed after completion of installation of rock/bank protection (which is likely to be some time in early summer, 2009) so that bank configuration is integrated into the documentation of baseline conditions. Further, we understand that the Star Bend portion of this work can be completed at the same time as that at State Cut.

Risks Associated with Field Data Collection

There are risks associated with field data collection. PWA maintains insurance for instruments, and therefore takes the risk of damage to the hardware or loss. PWA also applies quality control procedures to reduce the possibility of malfunction. However, PWA cannot guarantee that data collection will be complete. PWA will endeavor to complete the scope of work within the estimated fee and schedule with the data actually collected. PWA's policy is to notify clients if a problem arises and results in the need for added effort or schedule revision, so that the appropriate remedy can be identified and implemented. PWA reserves the right to not re-deploy instruments if the risk of damage or loss, especially due to theft or vandalism, appears high.

Surveying Practice

PWA performs land surveys and collects hydrographic data to augment traditional surveying services for the purposes of geomorphic interpretation, monitoring of project performance, and other specific uses consistent with Geologic and Landscape Surveys as defined in the Professional Land Surveyors' Act (California Business and Professions Code). PWA does not provide traditional land survey services such as property boundaries and maps for general use by others. PWA recommends that these traditional surveying services be accomplished by a licensed, professional land surveyor either under direct contract with the client or as a sub-consultant to PWA.
